

Emazin & Good son

BAND STORY

What do you get when you take an eclectic mixture of rap styles tinged with R&B, rock, and gospel among other genres, and throw in hot regional flavors from every coast in America. You discover National Anthems honest songs birthed out of many phases of the creative process presented to you by Detroit duo Emazin & Good Son. 13 refreshing tracks that stick to their signature sound, songs that are simple but powerful. Emazin and Good son's music cross ethnic, cultural, and religious boundaries sighting that Gods love and the human struggle are universal Emazin and Good Son's appeal has less to do with the fact that they have been recording and rocking stages together since 2003 and more to do with the chemistry they have from the brother-like relationship they share. Emazin & Good Son have shared the stage as close as their hometown of Detroit and as far as Atlanta Ga, Rochester NY, and many places in between doing what they do best providing soundtracks to life, making people laugh, cry, dance and rejoice. Emazin the mc, self proclaimed street preacher brings his veteran credentials and edgy in your face style to the masses after years of toiling underground recording multiple releases such as "Dear God" and "Emazin Grace" solo as well as "Words of flame" and "Serious" collectively with his partner Good Son. Emazin has done cameos for some of gospel music's brightest and best such as Detrick Haddon and Eric Deion. Good Son the rapper/ singer brings a totally different dynamic to the game. Lyrics heavy on wordplay and spiritual content that pull the
